National
Caregivers
Week

To celebrate the invaluable social role of caregivers, this national campaign features a variety of portraits from different backgrounds and realities of caregiving. People whose hearts are warmed by the support of organizations committed to improving the living conditions of caregivers.

Throughout Quebec, caregivers can count on the support of more than a hundred member organizations of Proche aide Québec, ready to offer them counselling, psychosocial support and respite. Organizations that engage people in conversation about the challenges facing the caregiver community.

Our human relationships are only improved by gaining a better understanding of the issues faced by caregivers.

In Quebec, nearly one (1) person in four (4) provides support to a member of his or her family who has a temporary or permanent disability. These caregivers make an essential contribution to our collective well-being and they deserve that, collectively, we give them the boost of humanity they need.

Taking on a caregiving role is not always a choice and requires a lot of tenacity. The support of an organization can make all the difference!
